

In the Specification

¶32 FIGURES 10e-10f 10e-10g are diagrammatic, elevational views which illustrate a portion of the inner shield member of Figure 10a along with a modified outer shield member, again showing one effective aperture, with the inner and modified outer shield members in different relative positions in order to show a few of the effective aperture configurations that can be obtained in this highly advantageous way.